We are golve to do wonders this year. It is all to be settled up; the rebels rubbed out, squelched, and exterminated; a negro population settled like a damp cloud all over the Scuthern territory, making it fertile, and numbers of faithful radical Governors, like Johnson and Hahn, are to have a patriorchal authority over them. We are going to send McCieilan up Sait river, and Jeff Davis down the Styx. We are going to turn everybody cut of Congress who iloesn't vote and talk as we do, and send all the gold cut of the country for treasonable resistance to Mr. Chase's financial policy. We are going to have such a people as the sun never sh one upon. We will allow no man to be disturbed on account of his color (unicss he is white), and the right of every one to bare arms and bare feet, bare legs and bare bodies, is to be established and reduced to practice as it never has been before-or behind. The virility of the nation is to be shown by sending able-bodied men to the South until if the whole country doesn't biossom with the rose, it will yellow with a peculiar harvest net put down in agicultural reports.

We intend to drive the French out of Mex ico, the British out of Canada, and America out of credit. The way we intend to raise provisions is only to be equaled by the way la which we raise the prices of them. Indeed such is to be our success in this, that the most despondent as well as the most hopeful will dmit that everything has about gone up. One danger to be apprehended is, that Grant, in doing his part, may not accede to the annibllation, extermination, botheration scheme, and only fight to quell the rebellion. Another is, the people may not appreciate the glories of miscegenation and the high price of butter to their patriotic bread. The beauties of freeing the blacks and s'arving themselves may not strike them. A faulty education may lead them into the error that, when the rebel armies are put down, the Constitution, proprio vigore (the Latin is inserted gratis), protects and defends the Southern people in all their rights and privileges; but there is a remedy against that which we offer to the 'Amorous. Mr. Lincoln has only to "put his foot down," and we have his own word for sa ying when he does that he will not move it, and of course can take no steps to establish the

HEADQU'TERS MILITARY DIVISION OF THE MISSISSIPPI, IN THE FIELD. CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Dec. 23, 1863. Col J. G. Kelton, Assistant Adjutant General

Colonel: In pursuance of General Orders No. 337, War Department, of date Washington October 16, 1863, delivered to me by the Sec etary of Wer at Louisville, Kv., on the 18 h of the same month, I assumed command of the Military Division of the Mississippi," com-Drising the Departments of the Ohio, the Cumberland, and the Tennessee, and telegraphed the order assumble command, to-gether with the order of the War Demetter in referred to, to Major General A. E. Burnside at Knoxyllic and to Major General W. S. Rose-errors at Chattancoga.

My action in telegraphing these orders to Chattancoga, in advance of my arrival there, was induced by information furnished me by the Secretary of War of the difficulties with which the Army of the Cumberland had to contend in convictions. ontend in rupplying itself over a long monn-alnous and almost impassable road from iteverson, Alabama, to Chattanoogs, Tennese, and his feary that Gen. Rosecrans would fall back to the north side of the Tennesser river. To guard further against the possi-bility of the Secretary's fears, I also telegraphed to Major General Thomas on the 10th of October, from Louisville, to hold Chattanooga at all bazards, that I would be there as soon possible. To which he resited, on the ne date, "I will hold the town till we Proceeding directly to Chattenooga, I arived there on the 23d of October, and found hat General Thomas had, intraediately on seing placed in command of the Department of the Cumberland, ordered the concentration of Major Gen. Hooker's command at Bridge-port, preparatory to securing the river and main wason read between that place and Brown's Ferry, immediately below Lookout Mountain. The next morning after my arrival at Chatanoga in company wit Thomas and Brigadier General W. F. Smit Ohief Eugineer, I made a reconnoissance of Brown's Ferry, and the hills on the south st Brown's Ferry, and the hills on the south side of the river and at the mouth of Lookont Vsiley. After the reconnoissance, the plan agreed upon was for Hooker to cross at Bridgeport to the south side of the river with all the force that could be spared from the railroad, and move on the reain wagon read by vay of Whitesides to Wauhatchie, in Lookont Valley. Major General J. M. Palmer was to proceed by the only praticable route north of the river from his position opposite Chattanoog to a point on the north hunk of the Tennessee. er from his position opposite Chattanoog to a point on the north hank of the Tennessee, river and opposite Whitesides, then to crors to the south side, to hold the road passed over by Hooker. In the mean time, and before the enemy could be apprised of our intentions, a force under the direction of Brigadier General W. F. Smith, Chief Engineer, was to be thrown across the river at or pear Brown's Ferry, to sci2e the range of hills at the month of Lookout Valley, covering the Brown's Ferry road, and orders were given according. Ferry road, and orders were given according.

was known that the enemy held the north end of Lookont Valley with a brigade of troops, and the road leading around the foot of the mountain from their main camps in Chattarnoga Valley to Lookont Valley. Holding these advantages, he would have had but little difficulty in concentrating a sufficient force to have defeated or driven Hooker. To remedy, this the selection of the back. To remedy this, the seizure of the range of hills at the month of Lookont Valley, and covering the Brown's Ferry Road, was deemed of the highest importance. This, by the use of postoon bridges at Chattanoors and the use of postoon bridges at Chattnooga and Brown's Ferry, would secure to us, by the north bank of the river, across Moccasin Point, we like this short way of settling matters.

Our artillery we as piaced in such position as to completely command the roads leading from the enemy's main camps in Chattan soga Valley to Lookout Vailey.

On the 28th Hooker emerged into Lookout Vailey at Wauhatchie, by the direct road from Bridge port, by way of Whitesides to Chattanooge, with the Eleventh Army Corps, under Major General Howard, and Geny's division of the Twelfth Army Corps, and slou of the Twelfth Army Cotps, and proceeded to take up positions for the detense of the road from Whitesides, over which he had marched, and also the road leading from 'Arown's Ferry to Kelly's Ferry, throwing the left of Howard's corps forward to Brown's Ferry. The division that started, under com mand of Palmer, for Whitesides reached its destination, and took up the position intended in the original plan of this movement. These movements, so successfully executed, seenred to us two comparatively good lines by which to obtain supplies from the termions of the railroad at Bridgeport, namely: The main way or whitesides, Waynerie, and Brown's Ferry, distant but tweuty-eight miles, and the Kelly's Ferry and Brown's Ferry road, which, by the use of the river from Bridgeport to Kelly's Ferry, reduced the distance for wavening to be to be to the control of the standard of the standa

True, we held possession of the country north of the river, but it was from sixty to seventy miles over the most impracticable roads to carry supplies. The artiflery-borses and mnles had become so reduced by starvation that they bccome so reduced by starvation that they could not have been relied on for moving any thing. On the 14th of November I telegraphed to Burnside as follows:

Burgside as follows:

Your dispatch and Dina's just received. Being there you can teil better to resist Longstreet's attack than I can direct. With your showing, you had better give up Kingsion at the last moment and save the most productive part of your possessions. Every arrangement is now made to throw Sherman's force across the river, just at and below the mouth of Chickamanza Creek. As econ as it arrives, Thomas will attack on his left at the same line, and together it Is expected to carry Mission Ridge, and from there push a force on to the railroad, between Cleveland and Dalton. Hooker will at the same time attack, and, if he can, carry Lookout Mountain. The enemy now seems to be looking for an attack on his left fank. This favorg us. the remainder of his force will pass over a new here remainder of his force will pass over a leave of the enemy breaking through at Kingston and by Davis' division of Thomas has ordered a division of cavary to the vicinity of Sparta. I will as ortain if they have starled and inform you. It will be entirely out of the question to send you ten thousand men; not because they can not be spared, but how could they be fed after they got one day cast of here.

To Major General A. E. Rirnside.

On the 15th, having received from the General and only in the continuation of the pared and captured all but one of the guard, and they have starled and of November, Sherratten, and by Davis' division of Thomas', and had been stationed along the north bank of the river, convenient to where the constituent of the question to send you ten thousand men; not because they can not be spared, but how could they be fed after they got one day cast of here.

To Major General A. E. Rirnside.

On the 15th, having received from the Genal of the processing was a condition. Thomas are they got one day cast of here.

To Major General A. E. Rirnside.

To Major General A. E. Erruside.

On the 15th, having received from the General-In-chief a dispatch of date the 14th, in reference to Euragide's position, the danger of his abandonment of E 1st Tennessee unless immediate relief was afforded, and the terrible misfortune such a result would be to our arms, and also dispatches from Mr. C. A. Dana, Assistant Secretary of War, and Col Wilson, of my staff, sent at the instance of General Burnside, informing me more fully of the condition of affairs as detailed to them by him, I telegraphed him as follows:

I do not know how to impress upon you the necessity of holding on to East Tennessee, in strong enough terms. According to the dispatches of Mr. Dana and Col. Wilson, it would seem that you should, if pressed to do it, hold on to Knoxvilic and lhat portion of the vailey you will necessarily possess, holding to that point. Should Longstreet move lits whole force across the Little Tennessee, an effort should be made to cut his pontoons on that stream, even if it sacrificed half the cavalry of the Ohio Army. By boiding on and placing Longstreet between the Little Tennessee and Knoxville, he should not be allowed to escape with an army capable of doing anything this winter. I can hardly conceive the necessity of retreating from East Tennessee, If I did at all, it would be after losing taost of the army, and then the necessity would suggest the route. I will not attempt to lay out a line of retreat. Kingslon, looking allowed to more importance than any one point in East Tennessee. But my attention being called more closely to it, I can see that it might be passed by, and Knoxville and the rich valley about it possessed, ignoring that place entrely. I should not think it advisable to concentrate a force near Little Tennessee to resist the CHATTANOOGA, NOV. 15, 1863. ratte a force near Little Tenuesce to resist the crossing if it would be in danger of capture, but I would harass and embarrass progress in every way possible, reflecting on the fact that the Army of he Ohio is not the only army to resist the onward PROSTORS of the energy.

To Major-General A. E. Burnside. Previous recouncissances, made first by Brigadier General W. F. Smith, Chief Engisherman and myself, in company with him, of the country opposite Chattanocga and north of the Tennessee river, extending as far east as the month of the South Chickamanga and the north end of Mission Ridge, so for as the same could be made from the north bank of the river, without exciting suspicions on the part of the enemy, showed good reads from Brown's Ferry up the river and back of the first range of hills opposite Chattanooga, and cut of view of the enemy's positions. Troops crossing the bridge at Brown's Ferry could be seen, and their numbers estimated by the enemy, but not seeing anything further of them as they passed with the control of them as they passed on the control of them. of them as they passed up in the rear of these hills, he would necessarily be at a loss to know whether they were moving to Kucxville r held on the north side of the river for future operations at Chattanonga. It also showed that the north end of Mission Ridge vas imperfectly guarded, and that the banks was imperietly guarded, and that the banks of the river, from the month of South Chickamauga Creek, westward to his main line in front of Chattanooga, were watched only by a small cavalry picket. This determined the plan of operations indicated in my dispatch of the 14th to Burnside.

Upon further consideration—the great object height to mass all the foregreen proceable.

ject being to mass all the forces possible against one given point, namely, Mission Ridge, converging toward the north end of it—it was deemed best to change the original plan, so far as it contemplated Hooker's attack on Lockont Mountain, which would give us Howard's corps of his command to aid in this purpose and on the 18th the tological In this purpose, and on the 18th the to:lowing ustructions were given Thomas:

All preparations should be made for attacking c enemy's position on Mission Ridge by Satur y at daylight. Not being provided with a map ving names of roads, spurs of the mountain, and her places, such definite instructions cannot be ven as might be desirable. However, the genemanga—his crossing to be protected by artiller, manga—his crossing to be protected by artiller, om the hights on the north bank of the river (the located by your chief of artillery), and to secure he hights from the northern extremity to about a railroad tunnel, before the enemy can concent at against him. You will co-operate with Shern the controller of the controller of the security of the controller of in. The troops in Chattanooga Valley should be ill concentrated on your left flank, leaving onlencessary force to defend the fortifications of right and center, and a movable column of on c right and center, and a movable column of or vision in readiness to move wherever ordere-his division should show itself as threatening possibly, on the most practicable line for mak-g an attack up the valley. Your effort then will to form a junction with Shermau, making your tvance well toward the northern end of Mission idge, and moving as uear significancies with new possible. The junction once formed, and ard's corps can then be held lu readiness to act either with you at Chattanooga or with Sherman. It should be marched on Friday night to a position on the north side of the river, not lower down than the first pontoon bridge, and then held in readiness for such orders as may become uccessary. All these troops will be provided with two days' cooked rations, in haversacks, and one hundred rounds of ammunition on the person of each infantry soldier. Special care should be taken by all officers to see that animunition is not wasted or unnecessarily fired away. You will call on the Engineer Department for such preparations as you may deem uccessary for carrying your infantry and artillery over the creek.

By three o'clock of the same day Colonei Long, with his brigade of cavalry, of Thomas' army, crossed to the son'h side of the Tennessee, and to the north of South Chickananga Creek, and made a raid on the enemy's lines of communication. He burned Tyner's Station, with many stores, cut the railroad at Cievelaud, captured near a hundred wagous and over two hundred prisoners. His own loss was small. naitatained an unbroken line, with open communications from the north end of Lookout Mountain through Chattanooga Valley to the north end of Mission Bidge.

On the morning of the 25 h Hooker took possision of the monntain top with a small force, and with the remainder of his command, in pursuance of orders, swept across Chattanoga Valley, now shandoned by the enemy, to Rossville. In this march he was detained four hours building a bridge across Chattanoga creek. From Rossville he ascended Mission Ridge, and moved, southward towards. Mission Ridge, and moved southward toward the center of the now shortened line.

Sherman's attack upon the enemy's most northern and most vital point was vigorously kept up all day. The assaulting column ad vanced to the very rifla-pits of the enemy, and held their position firmly and without wavering. The right of the assaulting column being exposed to the danger of being turned, two brigades were sent to its support. These advanced in the most gallant manner over an open field on the mountain side to near the works of the enemy, and laid there partially covered from fire for some time. The right of these two brigades rested near the head of a ravine or gorge in the mountain side, which the enemy took advantage of, and sent troops covered from view below them and to their light rear. Being unexpectedly fired into from this direction, they fell back across the open field below them and reform ed in good order in the edge of the timber. The column which attacked them was speedily driven to their intrenchments by the assault ing column proper.

Eirly on the morning of the 25th the remainder of Howard's corps reported to Sherman, and constituted a part of his forces during that day's battle, the pursult and subsequent advance for the relief of Knoxville.

His approach was intended as the signal for storming the ridge in the center with strong columns; but the time necessarily consumed in the construction of the bridge near Chattanooga Creek, detalued him to a later hour than was expected. Being as isfied from the latest information from him sa isfied from the latest information from him that he must by this time be on his way from Rossville, though not yet in sight, and discovering that the enemy, in his despera ion to do feat or resist the progress of Sherman, was weakening his center on Mission Ridge, determined me to order the advance at once.

Our correspondent at Baenos Ayres writes that President Lopez will soon proclaim the Empire. The crown and purple intended for his coronation as Emperor of Paraguay have arrived in Buccos Ayres, and the coronany we are informed is speed. and the ceremony, we are informed, is speed-ily to come oif. The sandalous story is told that the robe and crown are the same articles as were used in the coronation of the negro Emperor of Hasti, Faustin I., now an ex-ile in Junaica, and whose wife is said to take in washing. It will be remembered that Fanstin was crowned a dozen years ago with great pomp, imituing on the occasion the ceremo-nial at the coronation of Napoleon I; and as the Emperor Lopez is to wear his old garb, we suppose he will also follow his style.

Mr. Rogers, addressing the Republican side, said they don't come here to quote the example of despotism to be followed by those honest men who have come here and sworn on the holy bihie to stand by the Constitution and the constitution of the constitution and the constitution and the constitution of the constitution of the constitution and the constitution of the constitution and the constitution of the and the country to the last—the men who, at midnight entered the domicile of Vallandigam and tore him away from his wife and famity, are among those who are destroying the rights of the people under the Constitution, and sweeping away public liberty. The fanatics and despots, like Burnside, would go down to the grave—into perdition—and die worse than Napoleon when a wreck on a rock of the ocean. There were men who would maintain their rights. They are not the of the ocean. There were men who would maintain their rights. They are not the representatives of old Abe Lincoln, but of a free people, who sent them hither. You are not coutent with siandering Vailandigham and other true men. God bless the exile.

He prayed that the arrow of heaven would pierce the heart of the deeped. This is not the content of the deeped.

erce the heart of the despot. This is no orger a country of republicanism, but of monarchy and despotism, and he would go, as said, for a dissolution of the Union in preference to a war of extermination. This fratricidal war should terminate. He wanted the Union which gave presperity and peace; he wanted the Union with slavery, if necessary, or the Union without slavery. or the Union without slavery.

PROSPECT OF ANOTHER COAL FAMINE .-There are very good reasons for the belief that a monopoly exists among the coal dealers at Pittshurg for the purpose of keeping eoal up to a price that will render it impossible for a years' supply to be laid in this spring. Then, if the river should not continue at a better stage this year than usual, another coal famine will he pretty certain to come upon us uext winter, when coal may be again about a dollar a bushel. If it should be deemed improper for the City Conneji to take measures to prevent such another calamity, we hardly know what city councils are made for. It is said that coal cannot be purchased by outsiders, to be delivered here, the monopolists controlling it entirely. To foil these nefarions attempts, it is more than possible that it may become necessary for the city to go into the coal business on its own account, purchase a mine, steam tug, &c. The next nest thing, or perhaps a hetter thing, would

From the Richmond Whie. The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in commending the attention of our Government to the ervation of the health of our soldiers. This article ha peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the systems aga'nst disease by exposure and irregular diet. It 1 said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties, ville yesterday with a large trip of both freight and was found in most Sontbern homes, was owing to the extract of Callsaya Bark, which it contained as one of is principal Ingredients. "In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians emark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or a mospheric causes, be invariably relieved almself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared. We understand that our Government has opened negotlations with Dr. Drake, through a secretagent, but with what truth we do not know." lts remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can as-

DR. JONES AT THE BATES HOUSE,—Public attention we see is being directed very considerably towards this illimitished gentleman, and people are beginning to full that he is neither a humbuy nor even one of the ordinary travelins "Doctors," but really a scientific man, a blessing to the affiltered, and all, indeed, that he professes to be. We have spoken heretofore very highly and unqualifiedly of Dr. Jones, but we knew the marriand his eminens success in other places, and knew what we were talking about. We commend the Doctor to the jubblic, not for his benefit, but for the benefit of the affiltered—all who have defective organs of sight or what we were talking about. We commend to to the jublic, not for his benefit, but for the the afflicted—all who have defective organs obesting. As an operating surreon we verily be has no equal in America. He has spent a large in acquiring the knowledge he possesses, in schools of Europe, as well as in this country, since had several years practical experience, a with success perhaps never before equalled.
